Bill No. 2 Retirement Benefits Sector Liberalisation Bill

THE RETIREMENT BENEFITS SECTOR LIBERALISATION
BILL, 2011

MEMORANDUM

1. Policy and Principles

The policy behind this Bill is to liberalise the retirement benefits sector; to remove monopoly over mandatory contributions; to provide for fair competition among licensed retirement benefits schemes; to provide for mandatory contributions and benefits; to consolidate and reform the law relating to retirement benefits; to convert the public service pension scheme into a contributory scheme; to repeal the Pensions Act, Cap 286 and the National Social Security Fund Act, Cap. 222 and preservation of funds under the National Social Security Fund.

The major principles of the Bill include providing for mandatory contributions for all employees and employers in both formal and informal employment to licensed retirement benefits schemes, ensuring portability and transfer of retirement savings to a licensed retirement benefits scheme of the employee's choice, allowing licensed retirement benefits schemes to compete for the mandatory contributions and ensuring that all licensed retirement benefits schemes are fiscally sustainable.

2. Defects in the Existing Law

The pension sector in Uganda is currently composed of the Public Service Pension Service Pension Scheme which is a Government scheme that caters for the pensions of civil servants and the National Social Security Fund which is responsible for the retirement benefits under private sector.

The Public Service Pension Scheme regulated by the Pensions Act, Cap 286 is a defined non-contributory system that is guaranteed by the State and funded from taxes collected by the Government thus making it fiscally unsustainable hence the need to rectify the situation by enacting a law that will transform the public service pension scheme into a contributory scheme.

The National Social Security Fund which is responsible for the retirement benefits under private sector is regulated by the National Social Security Fund Act Cap. 222. There is wide public perception that the National Social Security Fund has not been run on sound governance principles and this could have a negative effect on savings mobilisation in the country. It is therefore imperative that immediate action should be taken to enact a law to reform and liberalise the retirement benefits sector in order to avert the collateral damage that has been caused to the retirement savings of employees from the private sector and the retirement benefits sector as a whole.

3. Remedies Proposed to deal with Defects in the Existing Law

There have been efforts since the early 1990s to introduce reforms in the retirement benefits sector as a whole. The liberalisation of the retirement benefits sector will bring about fair competition for mandatory contributions and innovation of products by the licensed retirement benefits schemes thus improving efficiency, transparency, governance, accountability and harnessing the growth potential in the liberalised retirement benefits sector.

4. Objects of the Bill

The objects of the Bill are—

- (a) to provide for liberalisation of the retirement benefits sector;
- (b) to remove monopoly of a single retirement benefits scheme over mandatory contributions;

- (c) to provide for fair competition among licensed retirement benefits schemes for mandatory contributions;
- (d) to provide for mandatory contributions and benefits;
- (e) to consolidate and reform the law relating to retirement benefits;
- (f) to provide for the transfer of retirement savings from one retirement benefits scheme to another scheme in accordance with the Act and Regulations made under the Act.
- (g) to convert the public service pension scheme into a contributory scheme;
- (h) to repeal the National Social Security Fund Act, Cap. 222;
- (i) to repeal the Pensions Act, Cap 286; and
- (j) for other related matters.

5. The Bill is divided into seven parts and two Schedules.

5.1 Part I of the Bill incorporating clauses 1 and 2 provides for preliminary matters relating to commencement and the interpretation of words and phrases used in the Bill.

5.2 Part II of the Bill in clauses 3 to 6, deals with, among other things, the liberalization of the retirement benefits sector by allowing all licensed retirement benefits schemes to operate and compete for mandatory contributions in an open market in accordance with the Act.

Clause 4 provides for the minimum requirements for operating a retirement benefits scheme in a liberalised retirement benefits sector.

Clause 5 requires every retirement benefits scheme other than a scheme funded out of the consolidated fund to have a scheme fund into which all contributions, investment earnings, income and all other moneys payable under the scheme rules or the provisions of the Act shall be paid.

Clause 6 provides for formation and registration of umbrella retirement benefits schemes

5.3 Part III in clauses 7 to 18 deals with mandatory registration and contribution. Clause 7 (1) requires every employee in the formal sector to register with a licensed retirement benefits scheme of his or her choice and to make regular contributions to the retirement benefits scheme in accordance with the Act and regulations made under the Act.

Clause 7(2) provides for every employer in the formal sector, irrespective of the number of employees, to make regular contributions for his or her employees to a licensed retirement benefits scheme in accordance with the Act and regulations made under the Act

Clause 8 (1) provides for voluntary contributions for an employer or employee in the informal sector.

Under Clause 8(2), an employee in the formal sector may, in addition to the mandatory contributions made by him or her, and his or her employer under clause 7, make voluntary contributions to a licensed retirement benefits scheme of his or her choice.

Clause 9 deals with portability and transfer of retirement savings from one retirement benefits scheme to another scheme in accordance with the Act and Regulations made under the Act.

Clause 10 provides for the rate of contributions and Clause 11 deals with remittance of contributions.

Clause 12 provides for every employee to open and maintain a retirement savings account in his or her name with a licensed retirement benefits scheme of his or her choice. Clause 13 requires every retirement benefits scheme to issue a social security number to every person who opens a retirement savings account with the scheme.

Clause 14 provides for crediting of retirement savings account and records of retirement savings account.

Clause 15 provides for ceasing of membership and mandatory contributions.

Clause 16 provides for utilization of the balance of retirement savings account.

Clause 17 provides for a reserve account and Clause 18 deals with closing of a retirement savings account.

5.4 Part IV in clauses 19 to 23 deals with benefits. Clause 19 requires a retirement benefits scheme to offer basic mandatory benefits including—

- (a) age benefit;
- (b) survivor's benefit;
- (c) invalidity benefit;
- (d) medical and maternity benefit;
- (e) unemployment benefit;
- (f) education benefit;
- (g) home ownership benefit; and
- (h) any other benefit as the Authority may approve.

Clause 20 deals with additional benefits, Clause 21 deals with voluntary benefits. Clause 22 provides for modification of categories of benefits and clause 23 provides for innovation of retirement benefits products and services.

5.5 Part V in Clauses 24 to 43 covers accessing of benefits. Under Clause 24, a member is entitled to receive his or her benefits whenever they are due.

Clause 25 provides for midterm access of benefits. Clause 26 provides for accessing of unemployment benefits. Clause 24 deals with accessing of age benefits. Clause 28 provides for lump sum and annuity arrangement.

Clause 29 provides for survivor benefits. Clause 30 provides for disability benefits.

Clause 31 deals with emigration grant. Clause 32 provides for circumstances for retirement. Clause 33 provides for computation of benefits.

Under clause 34, a benefit granted under the Act is not assignable or transferable except for the purposes of satisfying—

- (a) a debt due to Government; or
- (b) an order of any court for the payment of sums of money towards the maintenance of the spouse, or former spouse, or minor child of the person to whom a benefit is granted.

Clause 35 provides for protection of member's contributions. Clause 36 provides for tax exemption. Clause 37 provides for indexation of benefits. Clause 38 provides for Government to guarantee the basic mandatory contributions.

5.6 Part VI in clauses 39 to 41 deals with miscellaneous provisions. Clause 39 provides for powers of the Minister to make Regulations. Clause 40 provides for amendment of Schedules.

Under clause 41, the Authority may issue guidelines for giving effect to the provisions of the Act and for its due administration.

Clause 42 provides for offences and penalties. Clause 43 provides for recovery of civil penalties.

5.7 Part VII in clauses 44 to 56 provides for repeal, savings and transition. Clause 44 provides for the repeal of the National Social Security Fund Act, Cap. 222 and the repeal of the Pensions Act Cap. 286.

Clause 45 provides for migration of the Public Service Pension Scheme into a contributory scheme. Clause 46 provides for public officers to contribute towards retirement benefits. Clause 47 provides for accrued benefits of public officers to be converted into a retirement bond. Clause 48 provides for a public officer to be issued with a retirement bond.

Clause 49 establishes a retirement benefits redemption fund into which the Government shall make periodic payments for purposes of paying retirement benefits bonds issued under clause 47.

Clause 50 provides for redeeming of a retirement bond. Clause 51 provides for pension of former public officers.

Under clause 52, a public officer who has served for 15 years or more, or a public officer nearing retirement may opt to remain in the former pension arrangement or formulation or may join the current retirement benefits arrangement or formulation under the Act.

Clause 53 deals with ceasing of monopoly of the National Social Security Fund.

Clause 54 provides for the preservation of funds of the National Social Security Fund.

Clause 55 deals with gradual liberalisation for the first five years immediately after commencement of this Act.

Clause 56 provides for transfer of savings from the National Social Security Fund to other retirement benefits schemes.

5.8 Schedule 1 of the Bill gives the value of a currency point.

Schedule 2 provides for guidelines for operating retirement benefits schemes in the liberalised retirement benefits sector.

PART II—LIBERALISATION OF THE RETIREMENT BENEFITS SECTOR

3. Liberalisation of the retirement benefits sector

(1) The retirement benefits sector in Uganda is liberalized and all licensed retirement benefit schemes shall operate and compete for mandatory contributions in an open market in accordance with this Act and the guidelines prescribed in Schedule 2.

(2) Without prejudice to the general effect of subsection (1)—

(a) a single retirement benefit scheme shall not have monopoly over mandatory contributions made in accordance with this Act; and

(b) all licensed retirement benefits schemes may receive mandatory contributions and may offer mandatory benefits in accordance with this Act and Regulations made under this Act.

4. Minimum requirements for operating a retirement benefits schemes

(1) The Authority shall, by statutory instrument, prescribe minimum requirements for operating retirement benefits schemes in a liberalized retirement benefits sector.

(2) The minimum requirements to be prescribed under subsection (1) shall include—

- (a) the minimum capital threshold to be maintained by the retirement benefits scheme;
- (b) a trust deed containing the governance structures of the retirement benefits scheme and allocation of responsibilities in the retirement benefits scheme;
- (c) a valid insurance cover for the protection against liabilities that may arise as a result of activities by the retirement benefits scheme;
- (d) compliance plan prepared by the retirement benefits scheme and in particular the scheme's internal arrangements for complying with this Act and the Uganda Retirement Benefits Authority Act, 2011; and
- (e) any other requirement which the Authority considers necessary for the purposes of operating a retirement benefits scheme in a liberalised retirement benefits sector.

5. Scheme fund

(1) There shall be, in respect of every retirement benefits scheme other than a scheme funded out of the Consolidated Fund, a scheme fund into which all contributions, investment earnings, income and all other moneys payable under the scheme rules or the provisions of this Act shall be paid.

(2) The scheme fund and all moneys in it shall, at all times, be maintained separately from any other funds under the control of the trustees or the fund managers of the retirement benefits scheme.

(3) An in house retirement benefits scheme shall—

- (a) be funded to ensure adequate funding of scheme's retirement benefits liabilities;

- (b) maintain a minimum capital threshold prescribed in Regulations made under this Act which guarantees the long term nature of the scheme's liabilities; and
- (c) be registered by the Authority in accordance with this Act and regulations made under this Act.

6. Formation and registration of umbrella retirement benefits scheme

(1) An employer or any class of employers may merge two or more in house retirement benefits schemes to form a single umbrella retirement benefits scheme which shall be registered by the Authority in accordance with this Act and regulations made under this Act.

(2) An umbrella retirement benefits scheme shall manage the retirement benefits of the employees of the employers who join the scheme in accordance with this Act and regulations made under this Act.

(3) An employer who joins an umbrella retirement benefits scheme shall—

- (a) have a special set of scheme rules which outline the benefits structure of his or her employees; and
- (b) setup a member committee to represent his or her employees on the board of trustees of the umbrella retirement benefits scheme.

(4) An umbrella retirement benefits scheme shall—

- (a) have a single set of scheme rules and a board of trustees;
- (b) be funded to ensure adequate funding of their retirement benefits liabilities; and
- (c) maintain a minimum capital threshold which guarantees the long term nature of the liabilities of the scheme.

PART III—MANDATORY REGISTRATION AND CONTRIBUTION

Mandatory registration and contribution

7. Mandatory registration and contribution to a licensed retirement benefits scheme

(1) Every employee in the formal sector shall register with a licensed retirement benefits scheme of his or her choice and shall make regular contributions to the retirement benefits scheme in accordance with this Act and regulations made under this Act.

(2) Every employer in the formal sector, irrespective of the number of employees, shall make regular contributions for his or her employees to a licensed retirement benefits scheme in accordance with this Act and regulations made under this Act.

(3) An employer shall deduct a monthly contribution from each employee's salary at source and remit an amount comprising of the employee and the employer's contribution to a licensed retirement benefits scheme chosen by the employee under subsection (1), before the fifteenth day of the following month.

8. Voluntary contributions

(1) An employee or employer in the informal sector may make voluntary contributions to a licensed retirement benefits scheme of his or her choice in accordance with this Act and regulations made under this Act.

(2) An employee in the formal sector may, in addition to the mandatory contributions made by him or her, and his or her employer under section 7, make voluntary contributions to a licensed retirement benefits scheme of his or her choice.

9. Portability and transfer of retirement savings

(1) An employee may transfer his or her retirement savings from one retirement benefits scheme to any other licensed scheme in Uganda or the East African Community, in accordance with this Act and Regulations made under this Act.

(2) An employee shall give his or her employer notice in writing, of his or her intention to have his or her retirement savings transferred from one retirement benefits scheme to another scheme.

(3) The employer shall, upon receipt of the notice under subsection (2), give the Authority and the trustee of the retirement benefits scheme from which the contribution is to be transferred, notice in writing, at least sixty days before the transfer is made.

10. Rate of contribution to the Scheme

(1) Subject to the approval of the Authority, the mandatory contribution made under section 7 shall be—

(a) in the case of an employee in the formal sector—

- (i) a minimum of five per cent of the employee's salary by the employee; and
- (ii) a minimum of ten per cent of the employee's salary by the employer;

(b) in the case of an employee in the informal sector—

- (i) a minimum of five per cent of the employees salary by the employee, and
- (ii) a minimum of ten per cent of the employee's salary by the employer.

(2) Notwithstanding subsection (1), an employer may opt to bear the full burden of the contribution except that in such a case the employer's contribution shall not be less than 15% of the monthly emoluments of the employee.

(3) The rates of contribution mentioned in subsection (1), may, upon agreement between an employer and employee, be revised upwards, from time to time, and the Authority shall be notified of the revision.

11. Remittance of contribution

(1) An employer shall remit the contribution in respect of his or her employee to a licensed retirement benefits scheme before the fifteenth day of each month.

(2) An employer who fails to remit the contributions within the prescribed time, commits an offence and is liable to make the remittance already due, and in addition pay a fine of not less than two percent of the total contribution that remains unpaid for each month or part of each month during which the default continues.

(3) The amount of the penalty under subsection (1) shall be recoverable as a civil debt owing to the employee's retirement savings account.

12. Retirement savings account

(1) Every employee shall open and maintain a retirement savings account in his or her name with a licensed retirement benefits scheme of his or her choice.

(2) There shall be paid into the employee's retirement savings account, all mandatory and voluntary contributions and interest on them.

(3) There shall be paid out of the employee's retirement savings account any benefits and refunds to or in respect of the employee and all prescribed fees payable by the employee in accordance with this Act.

(4) An employee shall as soon as practicable, notify his or her employer of the retirement benefits scheme chosen by him or her and the identity of the retirement savings account opened under subsection (1).

(5) A retirement benefits scheme shall send an annual statement of account to every member of the scheme.

(6) A member's annual statement of account shall be sent to the member's current address or the last known address of the member, except that where the member fails to provide an address, the retirement benefits scheme shall not be under any obligation to send a statement of account to that member.

13. Social security number

(1) A retirement benefits scheme shall issue a social security number to every person who opens a retirement savings account with the scheme.

(2) The social security number shall not be transferable and it shall be used by the member throughout his or her working life for the purposes of this Act.

(3) An employer shall not transfer or use the social security number of one employee for another employee.

14. Crediting of retirement savings account and records of retirement savings accounts

(1) A custodian of a retirement benefits scheme shall, upon receipt of the member's contribution remitted under section 11, notify the administrator of the scheme who shall credit the member's retirement savings account with the contribution made in respect of that member.

(2) A member shall not have access to his or her retirement savings account nor have any dealing with the custodian as regards the retirement savings account except through an administrator of the retirement benefits scheme.

(3) A retirement benefits scheme shall maintain a record of all retirement savings accounts for its members.

15. Ceasing of membership and mandatory contributions

(1) An employee shall cease to be a member of a retirement benefits scheme when—

- (a) he or she attains the mandatory retirement age; or
- (b) he or she attains the mandatory retirement age and there is no balance in his or her account.

(2) All mandatory contributions by an employee and employer shall cease when an employee attains the mandatory retirement age.

(3) Where an employee's membership ceases under subsection (1), any sum of money standing to the credit of his or her account in the scheme shall vest in the retirement benefits scheme and shall be disposed of in accordance with section 16, and thereafter no claim on the account in respect of that member shall be payable.

16. Utilisation of balance of retirement savings account

An employee shall, upon retirement or attaining the age of forty five years whichever is later, utilise the balance standing to the credit of his or her retirement savings account for—

- (a) programmed monthly or quarterly withdrawals calculated on the basis of an expected life span;
- (b) purchasing an annuity for life from an insurance company which offers monthly or quarterly payments; or
- (c) withdrawing a lump sum to procure an annuity or fund programmed withdrawals if the annuity or fund programmed withdrawal will produce an amount not less than 50 per cent of his or her annual remuneration as at the date of his retirement.

17. Reserve account

(1) A retirement benefits scheme shall open and maintain a reserve account into which shall be paid—

- (a) any contribution which cannot be allocated to the retirement savings account of a member;

- (b) any fines and penalties required by this Act to be paid into the retirement benefits scheme; and
- (c) any other monies received for the purposes of this Act.

(2) The money in the reserve account shall not be drawn or appropriated from the reserve account except—

- (a) where it was paid into the reserve account by mistake or in excess of the amount due on the contribution, or
- (b) for purposes of this Act approved by the Minister.

(3) Any amount of money determined to be income of the reserve account shall be treated as income forming part of the general income of the retirement benefits scheme.

18. Closing of retirement savings account

(1) A member's retirement savings account shall be closed when—

- (a) he or she dies and any sum of money standing to the credit of the deceased member's account in the scheme is disposed of for purposes of paying survivor's benefits in accordance with section 29; or
- (b) when an emigration grant is paid in accordance with section 31.

(2) Where a member's retirement savings account is closed under subsection (1), no claim on the account in respect of that member shall be payable.

PART IV—BENEFITS

19. Mandatory benefits

A retirement benefits scheme shall offer basic mandatory benefits including—

- (a) age benefits;
- (b) survivor's benefits;
- (c) invalidity benefits;
- (d) medical and maternity benefits;
- (e) unemployment benefits;
- (f) education benefits;

- (h) any other benefit as the Authority may approve.

20. Additional benefits

Notwithstanding section 19, a retirement benefits scheme may offer additional benefits including—

- (a) child education benefits;
- (b) injury at work benefits; and
- (c) any other benefits as the Authority may approve.

21. Voluntary benefits

A retirement benefits scheme may, over and above the benefits offered under sections 19 and 20, with the approval of the Authority, provide voluntary benefits including—

- (a) additional age benefits;
- (b) basic health care benefits; and
- (c) any other benefits as the Authority may approve.

22. Modification of categories of benefits

The Minister may, by statutory instrument, modify the categories of benefits under this Act, and in particular, may—

- (a) remove a benefit;
- (b) add a new benefit; or
- (c) move a benefit from one category of benefits to another.

23. Innovation of retirement benefits products and services

A retirement benefits scheme may, with the approval of the Authority, innovate retirement benefits products and services which promote long term capital developments.

PART V—ACCESSING OF BENEFITS

Accessing of benefits

24. Entitlement to receive benefits as and when due

(1) A member is entitled to receive his or her benefits whenever they are due.

(2) A claimant for a benefit under this Act shall, in support of his or her claim submit such evidence and documents as the retirement benefits scheme considers necessary or proper, in a form approved by the Authority.

(3) Where the date of birth of a member is in doubt, and if such date is not proved by any written record used for official purposes, the Chief Executive Officer may, for the purpose of any claim under this Act, accept the date of birth declared at the time of registration of that member.

25. Mid-term access of benefits

(1) A member who has contributed for at least ten years may qualify for mid term access of benefits for securing a mortgage or a loan for purchasing a residential house from any institution and on such terms as may be prescribed in regulations made under this Act and the Uganda Retirement Benefits Authority Act, 2011.

(2) Mid term access of benefits shall be allowed only up to 30% of the accumulated contributions and interest.

26. Accessing of unemployment benefits

An unemployment benefit equivalent to 2 months salary payable for four months in equal instalments may be paid to a member who is less than fourty five years when he or she falls out of employment.

27. Accessing of age benefit

(1) Subject to section 24, a member is entitled to age benefit—

- (a) if he or she has attained the age of fourty five years and has retired from regular employment and made contribution to the retirement benefits scheme for a period of up to ten years; or
- (b) if he or she has attained the mandatory retirement age.

(2) Notwithstanding subsection (1), a member may access 30% of his or her age benefit, if the member is fifty years and has contributed for at least ten years.

(3) For the purpose of this section, a member may be treated as having retired from regular employment under circumstances prescribed by section 32.

28. Lump sum and annuity arrangement

(1) When a member qualifies for an age benefit under section 27, one-third of accrued benefits shall be paid as a lump sum.

(2) The remaining two-thirds shall be used to purchase an annuity, which guarantees a regular lifetime income for the beneficiary.

(3) The Authority may periodically review the number of years provided for under subsection (2).

(4) The commutable percentages of the lump sum and annuities shall be determined through an actuarial evaluation.

29. Survivor's benefit

(1) Subject to section 24, the dependent relatives of a member are entitled, upon the death of a member, to a survivor's benefit which shall be payable in accordance with this section in the following manner—

- (a) where the dependent relatives of a deceased member include a wife, a husband, a son or daughter below the age of eighteen years or a son or daughter of the age of eighteen years or above, who is wholly or substantially dependent on the deceased, the benefit shall be paid to or for the benefit of the wife, husband, daughter or son all of them in preference to any other class of the deceased's relatives;
- (b) where the dependent relatives of a deceased member do not include dependent relatives of the class mentioned in paragraph (a) but include a parent, a brother or a sister, the benefit shall be paid to or for the benefit of any one of that class or all of them; or
- (c) where the dependent relatives of a deceased member do not include dependent relatives of the classes mentioned in paragraphs (a) or (b) but include a grandparent, a grandchild or any other relatives prescribed by the Minister as belonging to a class of the deceased's relatives, the benefit shall be paid to or for the benefit of any one of that class or all of them.

(2) When payment of the balance in the account of the scheme has been made to any dependent relative of the deceased member or any class of them in accordance with this section, no further claim shall lie against the scheme.

(3) Where there are no dependent relatives of the deceased member of any of the classes mentioned in subsection (1), the person or persons who pay reasonable funeral expenses of the deceased member shall be entitled to a refund out of the balance in the member's account in the scheme, of a sum not exceeding two hundred currency points or the balance on the member's account, whichever is the lesser; and when the refund has been made—

- (a) no further claims by any person or persons for refund of funeral expenses under this subsection shall lie against the retirement benefits scheme;
- (b) no claim by any dependent relative or relatives or any class of them shall lie against the retirement benefits scheme for any sum exceeding the balance remaining in the account of the deceased member after the expiry of a period of three months from the date of death of the member; and
- (c) the balance remaining in the deceased's account after meeting the funeral expenses shall be transferred to the reserve account.

(4) A benefit under this section shall not be paid except to or for the benefit of a dependent relative who is alive on the date of such payment; and any benefit which is paid otherwise than in accordance with this section shall be recoverable as a sum due to the retirement benefits scheme from the estate of that dependent relative or from the person to whom it was paid.

(5) Where a member dies before receiving his or her benefit, the retirement benefits scheme may pay the benefit—

- (a) where the deceased member is survived by a wife or husband, to the wife or husband;

(b) where the deceased member is not survived by a wife or husband or is survived by a spouse to whom no benefit is granted, to a child or children or legal representatives.
